REPAIR DAMAGE TO FORT SUMNER LAKE AND CANALS

Dam Was Not Injured By Mountain
Freshets; Garden Washed Away;
Potomac Sufferer Recovered;
Houses Burn.

Fort Sumner, N. M., June 7.—The land company has had a large force of teams at work on the broken canal and lake banks. The dam was uninjured. The breaks are now all repaired in the gravity system, except those in the lake dyke. The lake is not needed for irrigation purposes, so that the farmers under the gravity system have plenty of water. The pump ditch suffered most and it will require several days to get it in shape.

E. H. Owen has recovered from an attack of pneumonia. He is one of the third family in the vicinity to become ill after eating canned salmon. He walked nine miles in the hot sun to summon aid and was five hours coming in to town.

The greatest individual loss inflicted by the storm was that which befell J. F. Bivens, who had a garden under the dyke of the lake, which was practically wiped out of existence.

The residence of Manuel and Pelajo Casaus at Guadalupe was burned to the ground.

Clovis, Tipton and LeLande people continue coming here for picnics under the big trees that line the river from here to the old fort, nine miles below town.

EL PASO MASONS RETURN.

The silver trowel party which escorted the Masonic traveling trowel to Houston, where it was transferred to the Holland lodge of that city, returned Monday morning.

A WIDOW'S SUFFERINGS

Mrs. L. R. Lowe Writes of Her Sufferings and Tells How She Finally Obtained Relief.

Tabor, Okla.—"I am a widow, with five small children to care for," writes Mrs. L. R. Lowe of this place, "and I was taken down so bad that for three whole months I was unable to get out of my bed. Life was hardly worth living. I felt like my back would come to pieces.

Nothing I tried did me any good, until I took Cardui. I began to feel a change right away, and was soon doing my work every day. Words can't praise my medicine too highly. It has saved my life."

Dark despair often assails women who suffer continually from the diseases that afflict their sex. After trying doctors and medicines in vain, they feel like giving up.

Better try Cardui, for it has relieved and cured thousands, when all else had failed. Cardui is a perfectly harmless, gentle remedy, with no dangerous after-effects whatever, therefore good for young and old.

As a woman's tonic, there is nothing in the drug store like it.

As a medicinal remedy, for women's ills, it has no equal.

Try it.

FIGHT AGAINST BIG EXPRESS COMPANIES

The Commerce Commission Is Asked to Order Rate Reduction.

EL PASO STARTS INSURANCE WAR

Through the Associated Commercial organizations of the United States, which includes the El Paso chamber of commerce, the express companies now operating in this country are to be attacked on the ground that they are charging excessive rates which are out of all proportion to the service rendered. The movement, which originated with the Merchants' association of New York has become general and includes the leading commercial organizations of the United States. To finance the movement against the excessive rates now being charged by the express companies, contributions have been asked from all of the organizations which have enlisted in the fight. A meeting of the transportation committee of the El Paso chamber of commerce was held Tuesday afternoon to consider ways and means of raising the contribution of the El Paso chamber to the general fund for prosecuting the attack on the express companies.

The action to be taken against the companies carrying express in the United States is the result of a conference held in New York on May 11 under the auspices of the Merchants' association of New York, attended by representatives of 27 organizations, at which it was decided to petition the interstate commerce commission to make a comprehensive investigation of the entire body of rates now in effect and also as to the express practices in use by the companies operating the larger express companies. The commercial organizations represented at this conference included those of New York, Baltimore, Cleveland, Grand Rapids, Indianapolis, New Orleans, and other commercial bodies in the larger cities.

In addition to the 27 organizations which sent representatives to the conference, 15 other organizations signified, by letter a willingness to join in this fight for more equitable rates from the insurance companies and offered to join the campaign against the high insurance rates.

Of this number the El Paso chamber of commerce heads the list and secretary C. A. Kling and traffic manager A. W. Reeves are both taking an active part in the movement to bring the facts before the interstate commerce commission. Letters have been written to Bisbee, Douglas, Tucson, Albuquerque and other cities of the southwest urging that the commercial bodies join the Associated Commercial organizations in presenting this matter in the proper light to the commission and asking for their financial and moral support in the movement.

A hard fight is expected from the express companies and it will be necessary for the associated organizations to employ eminent counsel to properly present its case before the commission when the hearing is called. It was announced at the conference that the interstate commerce commission would, upon the application of the commercial organizations, take up the matter of express rates and have a thorough investigation of the body of rates now in effect. However, it will be necessary for the petitioners to show specific cases where express rates are excessive and that the practices of the express companies are irregular and that the organizations have been asked to send all data and information obtainable concerning such cases.

Heavy Earnings to be Considered.

The great percentage of earnings over cost of operations which amounts to from 50 to 105 percent is to be cited as an example of the excessive charges which are being made by the four big companies now operating the large express carrying systems of the country. It is the contention of those who are behind the movement that the only tangible service performed by the express companies is in furnishing terminal facilities and delivery facilities for the goods as the express matter is carried entirely on the railroads, for which the railroad lines are paid a percentage of the gross earnings. The charges for this terminal charge does not increase or decrease with the distance the package is shipped, yet the charges are increased many times over, the railroads getting only a proportionate share of the increased tariff.

It is this and other practices that are now in force with the insurance companies that are to be brought into question by the associated organizations of the commercial bodies in an effort to show that the express rates are excessive and out of all reason for the service rendered.

The case promises to be as interesting as the railroad rate cases, as the express companies are expected to make a hard fight to maintain the present rates. The fight will attract additional interest in the west and southwest as the shippers and merchants are more affected by the high rates here than in any other section.

CORN STALKS GROW IN EL PASO COURT YARD.

Is the courthouse lawn to be converted into an experimental farm? This is what the lawyers about the courthouse say, and the reason is that on the south side of the lawn, fronting on Overland and Kansas streets, there stands a corn stalk, which, by irrigation, is growing fast and will soon be six feet high. A little to the east another stalk which will soon reach the height of four feet is shooting upward. Nobody knows who planted the corn and nobody cares, but the richness of the soil is demonstrated. Instead of having trees and flowers to show the visitor, soon there will be various kinds of farm products for the courthouse lawn is the valley farmers' stand.

MARATHON MAKES RUBBER SHIPMENT

Factory Tests Nicaraguan Bark—Marble Quarry Opens—Rain Falls.

Marathon, Tex., June 7.—The Texas Rubber company, of Marathon, has shipped to its New York agent 18,000 pounds of rubber. The company is testing Nicaraguan bark, and if found of commercial value, will utilize it at the factory here.

A soaking rain fell here. East of Marathon the precipitation was unusually heavy, and several bridges were washed out. Freight traffic has been tied up here.

The Parkinson marble quarry company, eight miles northwest of Marathon, has installed new machinery and is opening a large industry. A large derrick has been placed at the G. H. & S. A. tracks at Marathon to load the outfit of the quarry. The stone, both granite and marble, takes a fine polish.

The American Industrial company, to which the state in 1907 awarded all the leeching along the border from Val Verde to El Paso counties, inclusive, contemplates establishing a factory at Marathon. The machines manufactured by the Texas Fibre company, at El Paso, will be used at the factory.

Jack Bourland and J. D. Shoemaker left with working crews for Buena Vista in the Transpecos country, where they have a contract to put in an irrigating ditch.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stephenson, who have a ranch 40 miles south of Marathon, state they have 2000 Angora goats on the ranch, but that the spring clip of mohair was rather light this year.

Mrs. S. S. Dawson, of El Paso, and her sister, Mrs. W. C. Nicholes, of Bisbee, Ariz., are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Chambers.

Robert Bourland, a railway postal clerk, between El Paso and Sanderson, is visiting his father, D. C. Bourland, at the ranch south of town.

Chas. Shoemaker has let the contract for a skating rink, 50x150 feet, to be built immediately.

Dr. G. S. Locke, of Fort Davis, has opened an office in Marathon and will occupy a new cottage just finished by L. L. Hess.

Mrs. Adeline Mayfield, A. H. McCord and Ned Burnan are visiting in Corpus Christi, Texas.

CRUELTY BY THE DOG CATCHERS

Citizens Force Mexicans to Cease Choking Captured Animals.

That band of Mexican lasso experts dignified by the title of dog-catchers, are evidently finding their life anything but a bed of roses, due more to the brutal methods which they employ in capturing stray canines than to the occupation itself.

About 6 o'clock Monday evening the dog wagon, flanked by its retinue with ready lasso, paid a visit to El Paso street. The first demonstration occurred in front of the Grand Central hotel. After they had roped a large, fine looking animal, instead of leading him to the wagon, they drew the rope taut and fairly dragged him along, choking him almost into insensibility.

Poam, mingled with blood, was oozing from the dog's mouth and then, when they reached the wagon, instead of lifting the brute up, they started to haul with the rope still about his neck, making practically a gallows of the wagon.

"Here, you, drop that rope," shouted a citizen, rushing out from the sidewalk. "If you've got to catch dogs for a living, at least be human about it."

Backed by three or four others, he grabbed the rope, loosened it so the animal, lying prostrate, could regain its wind, then made the Mexicans lift him up in a civilized manner.

Two blocks down toward the river the scene was repeated, a tiny mite of a mongrel being brought up with a turn that nearly broke its neck. Too many were around, however, so the animal was carried to the wagon and put in.

In the process one of the smaller inmates of the cart got out, and amid the shouts and cheers of a number on the sidewalk, it escaped.

Miss Annie Stolaroff Wins Honors at Institute of Musical Art—A Stolaroff Attends Daughter's Graduation.

A. Stolaroff is in New York city attending the commencement exercises of the Institute of Musical Art and the graduation of his daughter, Miss Annie Stolaroff, a member of the class of 1910.

Miss Stolaroff has made a record in her musical studies at the institute that is gratifying to her El Paso friends. She took a very prominent part in the graduating recital occupying first place on the program with two difficult instrumental selections.

Mr. Stolaroff writes that he is enjoying his visit to the American metropolis and is having the rather novel experience—for an El Pasoan—of using a raincoat and umbrella. He and his daughter will sail on the steamship Annapolis.

KNUTE NELSON AGAINST CONSERVATION MEASURES

Washington, D. C., June 7.—Declaring that Alaska had been placed in a "straight-jacket" by the withdrawal of the public lands, senator Nelson sharply criticized the policy of conservation as practiced in that territory. The Minnesota senator was discussing the bill authorizing the president to withdraw from entry public lands for public purposes, which he advocated. The measure is one of a series of administration conservation bills.

Nelson is chairman of the committee which investigated the Ballinger-Pinchot case, and his speech was declared by Pinchot's friends to show that he was against Pinchot all the time.

The Tenderfoot Farmer

It was one of these experimental farmers, who put green spectacles on his cow and fed her shavings. His theory was that it didn't matter what the cow ate so long as she was fed. The questions of digestion and nourishment had not entered into his calculations.

It's only a "tenderfoot" farmer that would try such an experiment with a cow. But many a farmer feeds himself regardless of digestion and nutrition. He might almost as well eat shavings for all the good he gets out of his food. The result is that the stomach grows "weak"; the action of the organs of digestion and nutrition are impaired and the man suffers the miseries of dyspepsia and the agonies of nervousness.

To strengthen the stomach, restore the activity of the organs of digestion and nutrition and brace up the nerves, use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is an unfailing remedy, and has the confidence of physicians as well as the praise of thousands healed by its use.

In the strictest sense "Golden Medical Discovery" is a temperance medicine. It contains neither intoxicants nor narcotics, and is as free from alcohol as from opium, cocaine and other dangerous drugs. All ingredients printed on

Don't let a dealer delude you for his own profit. There is no medicine for stomach, liver and blood "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery."

STATEHOOD BILL MAY BE DITCHED

Washington, D. C., June 7.—The action Monday in the senate in taking up the conservation bill indicates that even if an agreement is reached subsequently by which a vote shall be taken on the statehood bill, it will be delayed until near the close of the session when there may be slight chance for it to emerge from conference.

The Democrats led in the movement to have the statehood measure substituted for the conservation bill, but seemed to see in the situation scant opportunity for action on it at the present session.
